

10th May 2020

पुणे पोलीस

Pune City Police
on Social Media

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice
@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azruddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling unwell around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494 aaditya.padhya

@padhyeaaditya

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Great Job we know they are doing their best

पण पोलीस कर्मचाऱ्यांनी योग्य ती काळजी घेउन काम करावे

4:44 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for Android

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 19h

At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

| Gunwanti Parasta
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azrudin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling unwell around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialed an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had reached the

Waghmare the local fac

After r

SGH, it was contracted

breath hing d

Speaking

Waghmare hypertensi

consecutive Thursday,

was rushed thanks to t

When i

Pathan said to the hosp

tanding no him on the

showed C Senior poli

guided us t

Waghmare Thursday

37

48

523 rajiv khanna

@virconindia1

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

Great

9:21 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 19h
At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

Gunwanti Parasta
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the official agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had reached the

Waghmare the local fa

After r SGH, it was contracted breath ing d

Speaking Waghmare hypertensi consecuti Thursday, I was rushed thanks to t

When i Pathan said to the hosp tancing no him on the showed C Senior poli guided us t Waghm Thursdaye

37

48

523 vishal nagalkar

@vishal_nagalkar

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

salute to all the Police 🚔

9:49 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

Some more to go today.
Will #domore 1/2

6 16 134

Srini 🙏🇮🇳
@srini_bala

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Congratulations to each one of you involved in this operation and their families.

Bless you all 🙏👏👏👏👏👏👏👏

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 19h
At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

Gurwanti Parasta
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tinganagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Anruddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the official agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had reached the local facility.

After reaching SGH, it was confirmed that Waghmare had breathing difficulties.

Speaking to the media, Waghmare said he has hypertension and is on medication. He was rushed to the hospital on Thursday.

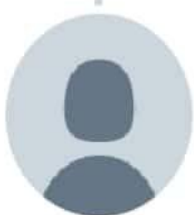

When Pathan said he was patrolling the area, he showed no signs of COVID-19 symptoms.

Senior police officer Anand Raskar guided the patient to the hospital. Waghmare was discharged from SGH on Thursday.

37

48

523

Umesh S GAIKWAD

@UmeshSGAIKWAD2

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

Best 👍👍👍👍

10:53 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for Android

1 Like

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 19h

At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

| Gurwanti Parasta

@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantiinmirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingre Nagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Anrudhin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officia is agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summarised for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had reached the Waghmare at the local fa

After e SGH, it was contracted breathing d
Speaking Waghmare hypertensi consecutive Thursday,

When s to the hosp tancing no him on the showed C Senior poli guided us if

Waghm Thursday e

37

48

523

JK

@JITKH

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

Salute to the life hero's.

10:54 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 19h

At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

Gurwanti Parasta
@TimesGroup

TWEETS @gurwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Anzuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling a ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the official agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the backseat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had reached the local facility.

After reaching SGH, it was found that Waghmare had contracted COVID-19. Speaking to the media, Waghmare said, "I have hypertension and I was in the hospital for three consecutive days. I was discharged on Thursday."

When asked about the hospital's refusal to admit him, Waghmare said, "The hospital showed COVID-19 symptoms. Senior police officers guided us through the process. Waghmare was discharged on Thursday."

37

48

523

CA parag patwa

@parag2101

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

Great work

11:07 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

CP Pune City @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice
@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti Paraste

@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Omanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

The Uttaranchali

@RAWATKK

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Let,s salute the Officers..Jaihind

CP Pune City ✓ @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice @PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP @DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gurwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were A gged on. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breath-lessness and profuse coughing. Consi-dering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, ar-rived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite re-peated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops im-me-diatly dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and strug-gled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the vi-rus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

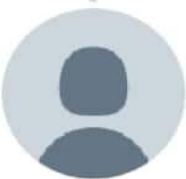

"Without wasting a minute, the offi-cials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can- not drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to local hospi-tal in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

I. J

@IJ05171391

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Thank you and great work...

4:29 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for Android

CP Pune City @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

|Gurwanti.Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantiinmirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling unwell around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Siddhesh Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can not drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494 dips

@deepsanjain

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 2 others

सलाम खाकी वर्दी च्या माणुसकी ची... 🙏

Translate Tweet

Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantiinmirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osharwad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialed an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Chandrashekhar....

@Chandra58181484

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

कौतुक करणे म्हणजे

आईने पाठीवरून हात फिरवल्या सारखे

आहे thanks sir...

Translate Tweet

#inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice
@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gurwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Arzuudin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were in a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assumed they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

SARANG DHOKA

@SARANGDHOKA

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

A big salute to all the policemen who are endangering their lives for safety of society.

I would be grateful if could contribute to their nobel deed

11:21 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worse. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breath. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Hemant Tripathi

@sirhemant

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

We are proud of you guys, you are making our life really easy, salute to you all. 🙏🙏🙏🙏

CP Pune City @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice @PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP @DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti.Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantiirror

F of Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were A godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Deonarabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Nitin Ravalallu

@ravalallu

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Bow in utmost gratitude!!! Thank you for your service...

10:54 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Domansabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudseep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and surmised they could get the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Nagraj Naik

@naiknagrajr

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Such a real heroes in our life....
God bless them.

9:21 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

CP Pune City ✓ @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice @PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP @DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was struck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can not drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

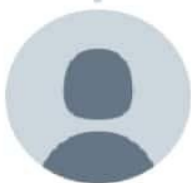

33

72

494

Amit Kumar Yadav

@amt85y

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Good Work Keep it Up !!

7:54 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter Web App

CP Pune City @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantiinr

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirangnagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Sagar Chavan

@Sagarchavan4050

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Great job

6:16 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

CP Pune City ✓ @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were A godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Dumarahad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breath-lessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Siddip Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

क्रमावली

कुमार गौरव सिंह

@kr_gauravsingh

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

5:44 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gurwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com
TWEETS @gurwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Amuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osharabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Bipin Deo

@BipinDeo1

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Hats off And" thank you "to you and your team for everything thing you all have done for the citizens so far and are committed in doing for us in future. 🙏🙏🙏🙏

11:30 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Parate
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Anandkumar Deshpande

@ananddasraodes1

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

सलाम पुणे पोलीस कार्यरत जवानांच्या तत्पर सेवेला, We are proud of You cops.

CP Pune City @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP

@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

|GurwantiParaste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gurwantierror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingre Nagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Omurabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudheep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Rakesh Nagul

@NagulRakesh

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Big salute

8:44 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for Android

CP Pune City ✓ @CPPuneCity · 19h

सेवा हाच धर्म... आणि कर्मही!

Police constables Anand Raskar & Azharuddin Pathan of Vishram baug are #Inspiration .

A big salute.. @PuneCityPolice @PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP @DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

Gunwanti Paraste @timesgroup.com TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azharuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Omanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

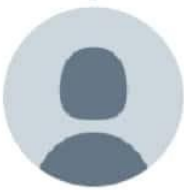

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had

33 72 494

Neelima Jadhav @Neelima10953587

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Hats off... Thank you 🙏🙏

11:01 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter Web App

@PuneCityTraffic @AnilDeshmukhNCP
@DGPMaharashtra @AjitPawarSpeaks

Two cops rush man with breathing to hospital as ambulance was not a

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was late

| Gunwanti Paraste
@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tirgrena-gar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Azuddin Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 35-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vein. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the officials agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I can't drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the back seat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sassoon General Hospital (SGH). The ambulance had

33

72

494

Bipin Deo

@BipinDeo1

Replying to @CPPuneCity @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Hats off And" thank you "to you and your team for everything thing you all have done for the citizens so far and are committed in doing for us in future. 🙏🙏🙏🙏

11:30 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

PUNE POLICE @PuneCityP... · 18h
At Pune's service - always.

#PunePolice4You #DutyFirst

Two cops rush man with breathing trouble to hospital as ambulance was not available

Despite the patient showing COVID-19-like symptoms, personnel drove him to nearby facility; it was later found

By Gunwanti Parasta
@timesofindia

TWEETS @gunwantimirror

For Deepak Waghmare from a housing society in Tingrenagar, Vishrantwadi, police constables Anand Raskar and Anasudhan Pathan, attached to Vishrantwadi police station were a godsend. The morning of May 7 spelled trouble for Waghmare as he started feeling uneasy around 5 am. Since his family was stuck in Osmanabad due to the lockdown, Waghmare was left to look after himself. His health deteriorated soon, and he developed breathlessness and profuse coughing. Considering his symptoms were similar to those of the coronavirus, the 38-year-old feared the worst. Worried that it would be difficult to find help, he called up his friend who stays two blocks away from his house.

Pathan (L) and Raskar rushed Waghmare to the hospital maintaining social distancing norms; the patient was discharged from SGH and is stable now

After Sudeep Gupta, his friend, arrived at his doorstep, the two started looking for an ambulance to ferry him to the hospital but in vain. Despite repeated attempts, they could not get through to any emergency transport service. Right then, the duo spotted two cops on a two-wheeler patrolling the area. Waghmare and Gupta asked for help and explained the situation to the police personnel. The cops immediately dialled an ambulance number.

This time, they were lucky to get through to the driver. However, they were told that the ambulance would take at least 25 minutes to reach their location in Vishrantwadi.

Talking about the crisis, Gupta said, "My friend was in pain and struggled to breathe. We got worried since the symptoms were like those of the virus. We tried calling an ambulance but had no luck. Raskar and Pathan were patrolling the area when we sought

help, and they stopped immediately. When they called the ambulance, they were told that the vehicle was in Bhosari and would take almost half an hour to reach the spot."

"Without wasting a minute, the official is agreed to take Waghmare to the hospital. Since they were riding a two-wheeler, they asked me if I have a four-wheeler. Although I do own one, I cannot drive. The cops assured they could drive the car and summoned for the keys. I did as told. While Raskar drove the car with my friend in the backseat, Pathan and I followed them on the two-wheeler. We went to a local hospital in Vishrantwadi."

However, the hospital refused to admit Waghmare as he showed novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) symptoms, saying that they were not equipped to treat him, and advised the patient be taken to Sasoon General Hospitals (SGH). The ambulance had reached the Waghmare the local facility.

After reaching SGH, it was contracted for breathing support.

Speaking on Waghmare's hypertension, Waghmare said, "I was hospitalized consecutively on Thursday, and was rushed thanks to the cops."

When Pathan said to the hospital that he showed COVID-19 symptoms, the hospital showed concern. Senior police officers guided us through the process.

Waghmare was discharged on Thursday.

37

48

522

Tarun G

@tarung2020

Replying to @PuneCityPolice

Hats off to you. You are at your best

11:39 am · 10 May 20 · Twitter for Android

नागरिकांना आपल्या गावी पोहोचवण्यासाठी पोलीसदलाने पुढाकार घेऊन बस सेवेची संकल्पना आखली. या उपक्रमाला सहकार्य करताना समाधान वाटले. मी व पुण्याचे सह पोलीस आयुक्त रवींद्र शिसवे यांनी हिरवा झेंडा दाखवला. यावेळी सुनील फुलारी, पंकज देशमुख, बापूसाहेब पठारे, योगेश मुळीक उपस्थित होते.

You and 4 others

10

20

105

Pratik Khatal Patil

@khatal_pratik

Replying to @jagdishmulikbjp @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

Mast 👍 100 🚩

10:20 pm · 09 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

नागरिकांना आपल्या गावी पोहोचवण्यासाठी पोलीसदलाने पुढाकार घेऊन बस सेवेची संकल्पना आखली. या उपक्रमाला सहकार्य करताना समाधान वाटले. मी व पुण्याचे सह पोलिस आयुक्त रवींद्र शिसवे यांनी हिरवा झेंडा दाखवला. यावेळी सुनील फुलारी, पंकज देशमुख, बापूसाहेब पठारे, योगेश मुळीक उपस्थित होते.

You and 4 others

Raj Agarwal

@RajAgar72574759

Replying to @jagdishmulikbjp @PuneCityPolice and 4 others

12:16 pm · 10 May 20 · Twitter for Android